May 20, 2016

The Louise and Alan Edwards Foundation of Montreal is pleased to announce the two recipients of the Louise and Alan Edwards Foundation Grants in Chronic Pain Research 2016.

- Dr. Catherine Estelle Ferland-Legault, for her project titled 'Mechanism-based pain assessment in paediatric patients with chronic pain';
- Dr. Céline Gélinas, for her project titled 'Exploring the validity of an innovative technology for the measurement of pain in the adult intensive care unit(ICU)';

We are proud to be able to support the excellent research projects submitted by these scientists from The Alan Edwards Centre for Research on Pain at McGill University, Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

This Research Grants Program aims to stimulate clinical and clinically relevant pain research amongst the McGill University, MUHC, and Montreal communities in particular, and throughout Quebec in general. The Foundation supports all areas of clinical and basic pain research, but its primary focus is on research that will have an impact on the clinical care of pain patients. The Foundation hopes that its Research Grants Program will encourage innovative work that will pave the way for more extensive research programs funded by other sources.
